

More Love, More Joy!

Simple Steps to Improve Your Relationships & Your Life

For more information contact Info@MoreLoveMoreJoy.com

Suggested On-Air Questions:

1. Jennifer, I've read that you've been giving seminars and working as a small business consultant and personal coach and for almost 15 years, what prompted you to write a relationship book?
2. With so many self-help and relationship books out there, what makes More Love, More Joy! so different?
3. You talked a little about the Wishbook, can you tell us more about it?
4. The different ways men and women communicate has been widely discussed by several authors, especially in John Grey's Mars & Venus series. What is your take on this?
5. So, for those people who are struggling right now, how do you know if it's too late to save your marriage or relationship?
6. I know there are a lot of people who are interested in improving their relationships, but their partner might not be on board. What would you suggest for them?
7. And what if you're someone still looking to connect with the love of your life, do you believe there's anything single people can do to improve their chances of both finding love and making that new relationship the best it can be?
8. You share a number of personal stories in the book, can you discuss a little about how the challenges from your own love-life have informed your work?
9. Are there other common challenges people can easily overcome in their relationships?
10. I understand you believe that improving your communication skills can be really easy too. Can you give us an example?
11. One of your goals for this book was to provide a way for people to create a greater sense of community in their lives. Can you talk a little about this?
12. If someone is ready right now to focus on bringing more love into their lives, where would you recommend they start?

